Host community people showed interest in social cohesion to ensure peaceful coexistence until Rohingya repatriation

COAST Trust in collaboration with UNHCR has implemented the project named “Improving Peaceful Coexistence among Host and Rohingya” in 2019. Aftermath of the implementation of the project, an impact seen in the both community which is demanding the improvement of Social Cohesion among Host and Rohingya. With the agreement between COAST and UNHCR a project is implementing namely “Improving Social Cohesion among Host and Rohingya Community”.

To involve host community people with the project activities and to share project activities, project sharing meetings were organized at Ukhiya and Teknaf separately.

On February 19, 2020, Wednesday at 12 pm, ISC project sharing meeting was organized in participation with local stakeholders and other inhabitants at Kanjorpara High School hall room at Whykong union, Teknaf in Cox’s bazar. In the meeting in total 40 people from different class, profession and background (Including imam, UP chairman, members, teacher, journalist, social workers) were present, out of those 36 were male and 4 were female.

Nur Ahmed Anwari, Chairman Whykong Union, said, “We are pleased with COAST Trust for delivering our speech to the higher authorities through different programs and this year they will do so. We have to think of something that will support to continue social cohesion among both the communities. Host community community leaders should be engaged with the project activities as they have influence in society to maintain social cohesion. On the other hand, the people who were affected seriously should be given some opportunities to make over their problem.”

Chief guest Ferdaus Ahmed Jamiri, vice chairman of Teknaf Upazilla, said, “We are satisfied with the project activities but the activities are limited. More educational institutions should be included and working areas should be enriched. Including Religious leaders of Rohingya camps is a great idea. I think all the imams should be instructed to preach the message of social cohesion through the light of Al-Quran and Al-Hadith.

On February 24, 2020, Monday at 11 am another sharing meeting of ISC project organized with the participation of 48 local stakeholders from different profession and background (including imam, UP chairman, members, teacher, journalist, social workers) at Ukhiya Upazilla of Cox’s Bazar.

The program started with the introductory speech of Zahangir Alam, assistant director- social cohesion of COAST Trust. After presenting the project activities, he invited all to work together for the betterment of Cox’s Bazar.

Kamrunnesa Bebi, vice chairman of Ukhia Upazila Women, said, “The Rohingya crisis is an international problem. We have no way to solve this crisis. We should all be aware and behave like a mature. Because both communities need no conflict-free status until they are being repatriate. So that there is no unpleasant situation. I think the Rohingyas need a lot of moral education. Thanks to Coast and UNHCR. Besides these, other international NGOs and NGOs should work for locals.”
